

DEBIASING DECISION MAKERS
Friday November 18th, 2016

Time	Location	Event
8:30 AM	Lobby	Coffee & Registration
9:00 AM	208	Morning Session Carey K. Morewedge Questrom School of Business, Boston University Calvin K. Lai Department of Psychology, Harvard University Jason Dana School of Management, Yale University Gordon Pennycook Department of Psychology, Yale University
10:30 AM	Lobby	Coffee Break
11:00 AM	208	Data Blitz
12:00 PM	The Castle	Lunch (225 Bay State Rd., Boston MA 02215)
1:30 PM	208	Afternoon Session Rosalind M. Chow Tepper School of Business, Carnegie Mellon University Emily Oster Department of Economics, Brown University Stephan Lewandowsky School of Experimental Psychology, University of Bristol Robert Smith Charles Hamilton Houston Institute for Race and Justice, Harvard Law School
3:00 PM	Lobby	Coffee Break
3:15 PM	208	Keynote Richard P. Larrick Fuqua School of Business, Duke University

Organized by Carey K. Morewedge, Janet Schwartz, Leslie John, and Remi Trudel

We thank the Boston University Questrom School of Business for its generous support.

DATA BLITZ SCHEDULE

Amsel & Griffith	Grief as natural occurring debiasing program: A game theory model
Daniels & Zlatev	Nudge strategies In social interactions: How they can backfire, and how to debias them
Drummond & Fischhoff	Putting on your thinking cap: Completing a warm-up reasoning task produces critical but biased evaluations of scientific evidence
Fasolo	When debiasing meets dread: An online study "reconstructing" preferences for transportation after the London bombings
Kostopoulou	Suggesting diagnostic alternatives from the start of the consultation can improve physicians' diagnostic accuracy
Lau, Morewedge, & Cikara	Overcorrection for social categorization information drives impact bias in affective forecasting
Roeder & Nelson	The breadth of explanatory depth
Steffel, Williams, & Pogacar	Ethically deployed defaults: Transparency and consumer protection through disclosure and preference articulation
Yu and Gonzalez	Trusting to learn: Information-seeking in trust development

DIRECTIONS

The Questrom School of Business is located at 595 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, MA, 02215
The nearest MBTA stop is Blandford Street (Green Line, "B" branch)

POST-PRECONFERENCE CONFERENCE ACTIVITIES

Feel free to join us for a drink at 4:15pm at Cornwall's Pub
654 Beacon St, Boston, MA 02215

SJDM Check-in and registration begins at 5pm in the Sheraton Boston Hotel
39 Dalton Street, Boston MA 02199

A tribute to Baruch Fischhoff at SJDM begins at 5:30pm (Sheraton Boston Hotel)