

Interprofessional Leadership in Healthcare Online Certificate

About the Program

This five-month, online certificate program equips learners with the knowledge and skills to effectively lead interprofessional teams. Our program is designed for individuals with three or more years of professional experience in any health profession or setting, who lead, or aspire to lead, interprofessional teams. Learners participate in weekly live online classrooms and engage with self-paced online learning modules featuring interactive exercises, videos, and journals.

Course Details

- Cost: $1,000 for the entire program
- 5 courses (4 weeks per course)
- 2 hours weekly (1 hour online live classroom and 1 hour self-paced online learning module)
- 100 percent online
- Open to all health professionals with 3 or more years of experience

Curriculum

1. The Interprofessional Team
2. Effective Communication
3. Effective Supervision
4. Leadership of Interprofessional Teams
5. Building Business Acumen

CE credit hours: variable depending on the profession

Alumni Mentors

Online classrooms are facilitated by mentors who are Boston University alumni from Sargent College, School of Social Work, School of Public Health, and School of Medicine. Our alumni mentors have vast experience leading interprofessional teams and have clinical backgrounds in a range of professions, including: occupational therapy, nutrition, public health, medicine, physical therapy, athletic training, physician assistant, social work, and speech-language pathology.

Testimonial

"I highly recommend this certificate program for anyone interested in being a leader within any healthcare setting. The courses highlight the importance of teamwork and collaboration for enhancing patient care across all areas of the healthcare system."

Joanna Guerrero, MS CCC-SLP, Falmouth Hospital and Select Rehabilitation

Register

To register or for more information about the Interprofessional Leadership in Healthcare Certificate, visit our website: bu.edu/sargent/certificate.