

Routledge Handbook of China-India Relations

(Asian Studies Series)

Edited by Kanti Bajpai, Selina Ho and Manjari
Chatterjee Miller

Table of Contents

Introduction

Kanti Bajpai, Selina Ho and Manjari Chatterjee Miller

1. Reflections on Comparing China and India

Tarun Khanna

Historical Overviews

2. China and India Pre-1939

Rudolph G. Wagner

3. The Relations between the Republic of China and India, 1937-1949

Tansen Sen

4. The 1950s in China-India Relations

Hu Xiaowen

Culture and Strategic Culture: Constructing the Other

5. The New Indian Communities in China

Pallavi Aiyar

6. The Alien Next Door: Media Images in China and India

Simon Shen and Debasish Roy Chowdhury

7. India in China's Strategic Thought

Zhang Feng

8. China in India's Strategic Thought

Ian Hall

Core Bilateral Conflicts

9. Stability in a Secondary Strategic Direction: China and the Border Dispute with India After 1962

M. Taylor Fravel

10. Differences not Disputes: India's View of the Border after 1962

Rishika Chauhan

11. Solving a Solved Problem: The Tibet Issue in China-India Relations

Fang Tien-sze

12. China-India River Conflicts: Towards a Solution through Launching a Cooperation Spiral

Sebastian Biba

Military Relations

- 13. Offensive Defense: India's Strategic Responses to the Rise of China
Yogesh Joshi and Anit Mukherjee
- 14. Asymmetric but Uneven: The China-India Conventional Military Balance
Oriana Skylar Mastro and Arzan Tarapore
- 15. China-India and Maritime Security: A Contest for Power and Influence in the Indian Ocean
David Brewster
- 16. China and India: Two Models for AI Military Acquisition and Integration
Lora Saalman

Economy and Connectivity

- 17. Bilateral Economic Relations Amid Trade and Trust Deficits
Pradeep Taneja
- 18. China, India, and Asian Connectivity: China's View
Lin Minwang
- 19. China, India, and Asian Connectivity: India's View
Jabin T. Jacob
- 20. Diverging Capitalism in China and India: A Historical Institutional Approach
Ye Min
- 21. Contested Partnership: China and India in a Changing BRICS
Gu Jing and Neil Renwick

Relations with Third Parties

- 22. The China-India-US Triangle: A View from Washington
Jeff M. Smith
- 23. Russia: A Balancer in India-China Relations?
Vidya Nadkarni
- 24. India, China and Japan's Policy of Regionalism
Marie Izuyama
- 25. India and the China-Pakistan Relationship - De-hyphenation and Re-hyphenation
Andrew Small
- 26. Across the Himalayas: China in India's Neighbourhood
Constantino Xavier

27. Unequal Rivals: China, India and the Struggle for Influence in Southeast Asia

Sheryn Lee

28. China and India in the Middle East: The Rivalry moves West?

Nicolas Blarel

29. China and India's Engagement with Africa: Seeking National Interests

Wu Fuzuo

30. Beyond Triangulation: Latin America and the Caribbean's Relations with China and India in the Era of the Belt and Road Initiative

Adriana Erthal Abdenur

China, India, and Global Order

31. Chinese and Indian Competitive Nuclear Restraint in the Global Nuclear Order

Nicola Leveringhaus and Kate Sullivan de Estrada

32. China, India, and Outer Space: Cooperation and Competition in the Global Commons

Julie Michelle Klinger

33. China, India and Global Security: Deploying to UN Peacekeeping Operations and Shaping the Responsibility to Protect

Courtney J. Fung

34. China and India: Continuity and Change in Climate Negotiations

Lydia Powell

35. Engaging Global Health Governance: The Experience of China and India

Huang Yanzhong

Illustrations

Tables

- 9.1 Chinese Border Transgressions on the LAC, 2010–2018
- 11.1 China-India Joint Statements
- 11.2 China's White Papers on Tibet
- 24.1 Japan's Partnership with China and India
- 27.1 Chinese official finance with diplomatic intent, 2000–2016 (US$ million, deflated to 2014 constant US$)
- 27.2 ASEAN trade in goods by trading partners, 2012–2017 (US$ million)

Figures

- 1.1 Percentage of Articles in New York Times with keywords China or India in Headline or Abstract, 1851–2018
- 1.2 New York Times & Wall Street Journal Stories with Key Words in Headline or Lead Paragraph, 1980–2018
- 1.3 Financial Times, Guardian, The Times Stories with Key Words in Headline or Lead Paragraph, 1981–2018
- 2.1a Portrait of Mao Zedong before the entrance of the Red Academy in Yan'an on 26 April 1938
- 2.1b Portrait of Mahatma Gandhi studying “war reports” on 7 April 1930
- 12.1 Cooperation Spiral to Achieve a Sino-Indian Water Treaty
- 17.1 Trade as a percentage of GDP—China and India
- 17.2 China-India Trade, 1995–2015
- 33.1 Number of Indian and total UN Peacekeeping troops from 1947–2018
- 34.1 CO2 Emissions: China, India, USA and Europe, 1965–2017

Contributors

Adriana Erthal Abdenur (Ph.D. Princeton, AB Harvard) is Coordinator of the Peace & Security Division at Instituto Igarapé, a think tank based in Rio de Janeiro. Dr. Abdenur works broadly at the intersection of international security, development cooperation, and global governance, especially as these themes relate to rising powers, the BRICS, the Belt and Road Initiative, and the United Nations.

Pallavi Aiyar is an award-winning journalist who has worked as a foreign correspondent for two decades reporting from China, Europe, Indonesia and Japan. She is the author of several books including the China-memoir, Smoke and Mirrors and the novel, Chinese Whiskers. Aiyar is the youngest winner of the Prem Bhatia memorial prize for political reporting for her dispatches from China.

Kanti Bajpai is Wilmar Professor of Asian Studies and Director, Centre on Asia and Globalisation, Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore. He is working on a book on China-India relations and has recently published articles on India's China policy in International Affairs and Pacific Affairs.

Sebastian Biba is a Lecturer at the Institute for Political Science at Goethe University Frankfurt, Germany. His research interests lie in the field of China's foreign policy, with a special focus on China's international river politics. He is author of the monograph China's Hydro-politics in the Mekong and his articles have appeared in journals such as Security Dialogue, Third World Quarterly, and Water International.

Nicolas Blarel is Assistant Professor of International Relations at the Institute of Political Science, Leiden University in The Netherlands. He focuses on foreign and security policy issues in South Asia as well as relations between India and the Middle East. His most books are The Evolution of India's Israel Policy: Continuity, Change, and Compromise since 1922 (Oxford University Press, 2015) and the co-edited Oxford Handbook of India's National Security (Oxford University Press, 2018).

David Brewster is a Senior Research Fellow with the National Security College, Australian National University where he works on Indo Pacific and maritime security. Dr Brewster's books include India's Ocean: the story of India's bid for regional leadership which examines India's strategic ambitions in the Indian Ocean, and the edited volume India and China at Sea: Competition for Naval Dominance in the Indian Ocean. He is also the author of Australia's Second Sea: Facing our Multipolar Future in the Indian Ocean.

Rishika Chauhan is currently a Visiting Scholar at the Centre for India Studies in China West Normal University, China. She has held teaching and research positions at the University of Delhi and the Observer Research Foundation in New Delhi. Her articles have appeared in Foreign Policy, The National Interest, and the Routledge Handbook of Asia in World Politics, among others.

Debasish Roy Chowdhury is a Senior Research Fellow at the Sydney Democracy Network. He is an award-winning journalist who has lived and worked in India, Brazil, Thailand, Beijing and Hong Kong. He was most recently the Deputy China Editor at Hong Kong's South China Morning Post and is currently working on a book on Indian democracy and governance.

Fang Tien-sze is an Associate Professor at the Center for General Education, and Deputy Director of the India Studies Center at the National Tsing Hua University in Taiwan. He is the author of Asymmetrical Threat Perceptions in India–China Relations. His recent research interests include India's foreign policy, China-India relations, Taiwan-India relations and global political economy.

M. Taylor Fravel is the Arthur and Ruth Sloan Professor of Political Science and Director of the Security Studies Program at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His latest book is Active Defense: China's Military Strategy Since 1949 (Princeton University Press, 2019).

Courtney J. Fung is Assistant Professor of International Relations at the University of Hong Kong. Her research focuses on how rising powers, like China and India, address the norms and provisions for a global security order. She is the author of China and Intervention at the UN Security Council (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2019).

Gu Jing is Director of the Centre for Rising Powers and Global Development and Senior Research Fellow at the Institute of Development Studies. She is a political economist with extensive experience in research and advisory work of governance, business and sustainable development. She publishes on the BRICS in international development, China and emerging powers including The BRICS in International Development (Co-edited with Alex Shankland and Anuradha Chenoy). She is a member of the International Editorial Board of Third World Quarterly.

Ian Hall is a Professor of International Relations at Griffith University, Queensland, Australia, the Deputy Director (Research) of the Griffith Asia Institute, and an Academic Fellow of the Australia India Institute, University of Melbourne. He is also the co-editor, with Sara E. Davies, of the Australian Journal of International Affairs.

Selina Ho is an Assistant Professor and Chair of the Master in International Affairs Program at the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore. She specializes in Chinese foreign policy and politics, with a focus on China-India relations and China-Southeast Asia relations.

Huang Yanzhong is Professor and Director of Global Health Studies at Seton Hall University's School of Diplomacy and International Relations. He is also a senior fellow for global health at the Council on Foreign Relations. He is the founding editor of the journal of Global Health Governance.

Hu Xiaowen is an Associate Professor at the Institute of Indian Studies in Yunnan University. Her research focuses on Indian foreign policy and China-India Relations. She is the co-editor of the volume One Belt One Road: China's Global Outreach (Pentagon Press: New Delhi, 2017).

Marie Izuyama is Senior Research Fellow at the National Institute for Defense Studies (NIDS). She joined NIDS in 1994. She received her MA from University of Tokyo. Working on foreign and security policy of India, her recent research interests are India-China relations, and India's power of order making. Her publications include "Border and Connectivity in India's North Eastern Region: India-China Border and Arunachal Pradesh," in M. Murayama

ed. Forthcoming; “India, Japan and Global/Regional Order Making,” in T. Horimoto ed., Introduction to Contemporary Japan-India Relations (2017) (in Japanese).

Jabin T. Jacob is Associate Professor, Department of International Relations and Governance Studies, Shiv Nadar University, India. His research interests include Chinese foreign policy, Sino-Indian border areas, and centre-province relations in China. Jacob’s latest work is a co-edited volume, China and its Neighbourhood: Perspectives from India and Vietnam (2017) and his work can be found online at <https://indiandchina.com/>.

Yogesh Joshi is currently a Research Fellow at the Institute of South Asian Studies (ISAS), National University of Singapore. He was previously a MacArthur and Stanton Post-Doctoral Fellow at the Center for International Security and Cooperation (CISAC), Stanford University. He is the co-author of India and Nuclear Asia: Forces, Doctrines and Dangers (Georgetown University Press, 2018).

Tarun Khanna has taught at Harvard Business School and Harvard College for 25 years, focusing on the role of entrepreneurs across developing countries. He is the first director of Harvard’s Lakshmi Mittal and Family South Asia Institute, a university-wide endeavor that brings together natural and social scientists with artists and humanists in joint academic pursuits. His latest book, Trust, and his earlier Billions of Entrepreneurs, chronicle creative ventures in China, India and beyond.

Julie Michelle Klinger holds a PhD in Geography from the University of California, Berkeley. She is an Assistant Professor at the Frederick S. Pardee School of Global Studies at Boston University. She is Associate Director of the Land Use and Livelihoods Initiative at the Global Development Policy Center.

Sheryn Lee is a Lecturer at the Department of Security Studies and Criminology, Macquarie University, Sydney. Her current research interests are emerging and disruptive technologies and military modernization, China-Taiwan relations and Japanese defense policy. She has previously published in Texas National Security Review and Survival.

Nicola Leveringhaus is Lecturer in War Studies (East Asian Security and International Relations) at King’s College London. She specialises on China and nuclear weapons in Northeast Asia. Her book China and Global Nuclear Order, from Estrangement to Active Engagement was nominated for the 2017 ECPR Hedley Bull Prize.

Lin Minwang, Ph.D., Professor at the Institute of International Studies, Fudan University. His main research includes China-India Relations, International Relations in South Asian and International Relations Theory. He has published widely on China’s new diplomacy, Geopolitics of South Asia, which mostly appears in World Economics and Politics, Foreign Affairs Review, Journal of Contemporary Asia-Pacific Studies, International Studies. He has published two monographs Choosing war (2010) and The BRI and Geopolitics in South Asia (2018).

Oriana Skylar Mastro is an Assistant Professor of security studies at Georgetown University, where her research focuses on interstate conflict, great power relations, and the challenges of rising powers – with a focus on China and East Asian security. She is the author of The Costs of Conversation: Obstacles to Peace Talks in Wartime (Cornell University Press, 2019).

Manjari Chatterjee Miller is Associate Professor of International Relations at the Pardee School of Global Studies at Boston University, and a Research Associate at the Oxford School of Global and Area Studies, University of Oxford. She works on foreign policy and security issues with a focus on China and India.

Anit Mukherjee is an Assistant Professor at the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (RSIS), Nanyang Technological University, Singapore. He is the author of The Absent Dialogue: Politicians, Bureaucrats and the Military in India (New York: Oxford University Press, 2019)

Vidya Nadkarni is Professor of Political Science at the University of San Diego. Her research interests span the foreign policies of resurgent (Russia) and aspiring (China, India) global powers. Among other works, she is the author of Strategic Partnerships in Asia: Balancing without Alliances (2010) and co-author of The Foreign Policy of Russia (2019).

Neil Renwick is Professor of Global Security, Coventry University specialising in Human Security and development. He has published Northeast Asian Critical Security (Palgrave). A Senior Associate Member of St. Antony's College, Oxford, his latest book is China, Sustainable Development and South-South Cooperation (Palgrave Macmillan USA, late 2019).

Lydia Powell has been with the Observer Research Foundation for over 18 years working on policy issues in energy, water and the environment in the Indian context. Her current interests include energy access, carbon constraints on energy use, clean coal & natural gas for energy and environmental security.

Lora Saalman is a Senior Fellow with the EastWest Institute and SIPRI. She has worked at the Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies, Carnegie-Tsinghua Center for Global Policy, Tsinghua University, Wisconsin Project on Nuclear Arms Control, Observer Research Foundation, Center for Nonproliferation Studies, and IAEA. She graduated from The University of Chicago, Monterey Institute of International Studies, and Tsinghua University.

Tansen Sen is Professor of history and the Director of the Center for Global Asia at NYU Shanghai, and Global Network Professor at NYU. He is the author of Buddhism, Diplomacy, and Trade: The Realignment of Sino-Indian Relations, 600-1400 (2003; 2016) and India, China, and the World: A Connected History (2017).

Simon Shen is the President of Yew Wah Global Institute of Lifestyle and Management, and Founding Chairman of the international relations start-up company GLOs (Glocal Learning Offices). He is also Adjunct Associate Professor at The Department of Politics and Public Administration, University of Hong Kong.

Andrew Small is a Senior Transatlantic Fellow on the Asia program at the German Marshall Fund of the United States. He is the author of The China-Pakistan Axis: Asia's New Geopolitics.

Jeff M. Smith is a Research Fellow at The Heritage Foundation. He is the author of Cold Peace: China-India Rivalry in the 21st Century (Lexington, 2014) and author/editor of Asia's Quest for Balance (Rowman, 2018). Additionally, he has authored chapters for China Steps

Out (Routledge, 2018) and The Thickening Web of Asian Security Cooperation (RAND, 2019).

Kate Sullivan de Estrada is Director of the Contemporary South Asian Studies Programme and Associate Professor in the International Relations of South Asia at the Oxford School of Global and Area Studies, University of Oxford. She is author, with Rajesh Basrur, of Rising India: Status and Power (2017).

Pradeep Taneja lectures in Asian politics and international relations at the University of Melbourne, where he is also a Fellow of the Australia India Institute and an Associate of the Centre for Contemporary Chinese Studies. He is currently working on a book looking at the rise of China and its implications for India.

Arzan Tarapore is a Nonresident Fellow at the National Bureau of Asian Research, where his research focuses on strategy, military effectiveness, and South Asian security issues. His work has been published in The Washington Quarterly, Joint Force Quarterly, and several other publications. He previously served in the Australian Defence Department.

Rudolf G. Wagner is Senior Professor of Chinese Studies at Heidelberg University, and Associate at the Fairbank Center, Harvard University. An intellectual historian he has published widely on the political implications of philosophical and literary works and on the transcultural interaction between China and the world, in premodern and modern times. He is a recipient of the Leibniz Award.

Wu Fuzuo is a Senior Research Fellow at Institute of South Asian Studies, Sichuan University. Her research focuses on China and India and international affairs as well as global governance. Her book Energy and Climate Policies in China and India: A Two-Level Comparative Study was published by Cambridge University Press.

Constantino Xavier is a Fellow at Brookings India, in New Delhi. He researches on India's foreign policy with a focus on security, connectivity and democracy in South Asia. He contributed to the Oxford Handbook of Indian Foreign Policy and holds a Ph.D. in South Asian studies from the Johns Hopkins University.

Ye Min is Associate Professor at the Pardee School, Boston University. Her publications include The Belt, Road and Beyond: State-Mobilized Globalization in China (Cambridge University Press, 2020), Diasporas and Foreign Direct Investment in China and India (Cambridge University Press, 2014), and The Making of Northeast Asia (Stanford University Press, 2010).

Zhang Feng is Professor of International Relations and Executive Dean of the Institute of Public Policy at the South China University of Technology. He studies Chinese foreign policy in East Asia (especially China-US and China-Southeast Asia relations), international relations in East Asian history, and international relations theory. His first book, Chinese Hegemony: Grand Strategy and International Institutions in East Asian History, was published by Stanford University Press in 2015. He has taught at Tsinghua University in Beijing and Murdoch University and Australian National University in Australia.